

Exhibit Policy

Exhibits at the Oregon Jewish Museum and Center for Holocaust Education align with the museum's mission to examine and preserve the rich cultural heritage of one of Oregon's earliest immigrant groups and to bring innovative exhibits and Jewish programs to the region. Exhibits endeavor to stimulate dialogue by introducing new ideas, inspiring new and diverse audiences to participate at OJMCHC, and engaging those audiences with subject matter that they might not have seen otherwise. We interpret the museum's archives and artifact collection, and holdings in the Jewish community, from multiple perspectives. We create opportunities to initiate and share new scholarship related to the experiences of Oregon Jews.

Exhibits organized by guest curators, exhibits organized in partnership with other institutions, and rented exhibits are integral to the planning of the exhibit program. The Museum prioritizes exhibits according to their ability to reflect an aspect of the fine art and cultural heritage of Oregon Jews. All exhibits at the Oregon Jewish Museum and Center for Holocaust Education demonstrate sound research and high curatorial standards.

The Oregon Jewish Museum and Center for Holocaust Education has limited exhibition space. The Exhibit Committee meets periodically to consider exhibit ideas. Please refer to the Exhibit Proposal Guidelines below for proposal submission requirements.
